

LEESBURG
VETERINARY HOSPITAL

A Novel Idea...

Introducing “novel” food sources into your pet’s diet may help with allergies.

Following an examination, your veterinarian may recommend an elimination diet trial, where your pet is fed a specialized diet containing a novel protein and carbohydrate source – these are ingredients your pet has never eaten before.

Some of the protein and carbohydrate sources used in these diets include the following:

PROTEIN SOURCE

Salmon

Tuna

Rabbit

Game Meats (Venison, Duck)

Chick Peas

CARBOHYDRATE SOURCE

Yams

Sweet Potatoes

Pumpkin

Oatmeal

Quinoa

Contact us for more information: leesburgvet.com

